

Alan Sacerdote, MD, FACP, FABD, MABD

Brief Professional Profile

Prof. Dr. Alan Sacerdote received a full University Professor from George's University School of Medicine and was appointed to Clinical Professor of Medicine SUNY Downstate. Additionally, he served as a Director of the Division of Endocrinology at SUNY Downstate.

Prof. Sacerdote held a specialty in Medicine and Endocrinology, did extensive clinical-scientific research, and published his findings in gynecology on polycystic ovarian syndrome (PCOS) & Congenital Adrenal Hyperplasia.

From 1977 until his retirement, Prof. Sacerdote has been active in clinical practice as a teacher, journal editor, and clinical-scientific investigator. He is a well-published author in medicine who developed with his coworker's ground-breaking treatments for diabetic enteropathy, sickle-cell disease, classic and non-classic adrenal hyperplasia, a polycystic ovarian syndrome associated with neurocysticercosis, primary hyperaldosteronism, Cushing's Disease, and ornithine transcarboxylase deficiency.

Prof. Sacerdote organized a free webinar presentation worldwide and in-person at two-international conferences and was selected to serve as the chairman of these congresses.

